The student union condemned the two sides of the newly formed student body in the honey canteen Bangladesh Student Union has welcomed the new student body 'Bangladesh Democratic Student Parliament' formed by the coordinator of the anti -discrimination student movement. However, on the day of the debut, they described the clash between the two parties of the newly formed student body,

Mahir Shahriar Reza, president of the Central Parliament of Bangladesh Student Union and Bahauddin Shubh, said this in a joint statement on Wednesday. It said, "We worried that the leaders of the newly formed student body were involved in the honey canteen of Dhaka University, known as the tutorgah of the student movement of Bangladesh. After the fall of the autocratic Hasina government, everyone's desire was to be occupied, anarchical and terrorist democratic educational institutions; But we see that occupation and terrorism are still prevalent in the educational institutions, the latest example of which is the conflict between the two parties of the newly formed student body. The Bangladesh Student Union has called on the new student body to move forward by condemning the conflict, not terrorist, but democratic values. The student body also demanded action against those involved in the clash,

The student union did not want to be occupied, terrorized and anarchy in the educational institution, saying, "We call on the newly formed student body to move forward by democratic values. At the same time, I hope that the newly formed student body will hold the consciousness of all the democratic movements of the country, including the Great War of Liberation.
